Dropping in on Earl Watson one day this week, where he was packing eggs and other produce, we were surprised to learn from him that he is paying eight cents a dozen more for infertile eggs than for the fertile kind. Mr. Watson says that in large poultry centers there is almost no sale in warm weather for fertile eggs and he believes the time is near at hand when only infertile eggs will be handled in a commercial way during warm weather. All one has to do to produce infertile eggs is to remove the roosters from the hens and keep them separate. When one reflects that this means eight cents profit to him on each dozen eggs sold, it would seem that the fowls would be separated even if the roosters all had to go to pot.

So Big

By Edna Ferber

Author of "Cheerful By Request," "Gigolo," "The Girls," "Half Portions," Etc.

A romance of human nature; a diverting mine of human actions and people as they really are.

Why has it been the most talked-about novel of the year? Because:

Edna Ferber writes out of contemporary life, not from a literary window looking upon it.

We have secured the privilege of printing this charming story as a serial.

LOCAL TRACTOR MAN RE-TURNED HOME.

The City of Hondo was represented in the Fordson Tractor Training School, held in Houston all through last week by Mr. Max Linde-man of the Carter & Bader Ford Dealers, who returned home Sunday.
man of the Carter & Bader Ford
The Houston Branch of the Ford Motor Company conducted the school and was attended by engineering experts, inventors, and sales representatives of some twenty-five nationally known manufacturers of equipment designed to work with the Fordson. Fifty tractor specialists from as many retail Ford Dealers, scattered all over the lower half of Texas attended the school.
The thing that impressed me most," said Mr. Lindeman, in discussing his experiences with Ford-sons at the school, "was the amazing number of jobs a tractor will perform, the low cost of doing them.
Of course, I've made a study of Fordsons before I went to Houston and was thoroughly familiar with it.
I thought, but I found there, that there was much I could learn—and before I left, you can take my word for it—I learned everything about a Fordson tractor and the variety of jobs it can do with the proper equipment. This school was not a long-winded theoretical affair. It is true that we were privileged to hear wonderfully inspiring lectures pointing out how the Fordson tractor today is measuring up to Henry Ford's ideal in producing it—to lighten man's burden—increasing productivity and lower costs on the farm and in commercial use, and we also heard a number of constructive sales talks pointing out our opportunity to serve our communities by placing more Fordsons at work, but ninety per cent of the time we were out on the grounds of the Gulfcoast Country Club where the field work was done, and we were actually hitting the ball.
I wish some of the people of Medina Co. could have been there to see what we did. Each man had to assemble and operate the different machinery to the complete satisfaction of the Ford Motor Company and the equipment specialists.
Some people will doubt probably when they hear of the number of tasks I did with a Fordson, but all the men there including myself—did them. We plowed, cultivated, did heavy hauling, pumped water for irrigation, built and graded streets, dug and filled ditches, sawed wood, mowed lawn, baled hay, hauled cotton 5 bales at a time, pulled stumps from the earth 3 feet in diameter unloaded carloads of gravel, mixed and hoisted concrete, ground feed, terraced land, pulled down trees and uprooted them, excavated earth and loaded it into trucks and a lot of other things I can't think of now.
The school attracted so much attention nationally that the Ford Motor Company produced a complete moving picture showing all of us in our work.
A news cameraman "Shot us during the middle of the work and on Saturday before we left, we were the guests of the C. W. Bull Equipment Co. Who handle all the line of the manufacturers represented,—at the Queen Theatre in Houston where we saw ourselves starring on the silver sheet as the magazines would say. But you get a real kick from it at that.
"My friends know" he said in conclusion "that I've been a Fordson booster all along, but at Houston I really saw the vision of what power farming can do to help the farmer and what the Industrial Fordson can do to lower the cost of doing commercial or business jobs—and I realize now more than ever that Carter & Bader are rendering a real service everytime another Fordson is sold."
Mr. Carter, of Carter & Bader is particularly elated since Mr. Linde-man passed his final examination Saturday afternoon with flying colors and was warmly praised by L. G.
Russell, Tractor Manager of the Houston Branch of the Ford Motor Company.

Water Getting Low In The Lake.

The water has been drawn from the Chicon Lake, six miles north of town until it is hardly fit for bathing purposes any more and fishing is rather poor, we are told. The watering of some 8,000 acres for several weeks has told heavily on the Medina Lake supply, we are informed. With the increased use of water from the lakes for irrigation, for which it was primarily designed, the sporting features of these lakes will be reduced. It will take another rainy season to put these lakes back into their pristine glory.

Shipped 23 Cars Roastingears From Devine.

The roastingear people, after shipping twenty-three cars, packed their equipment and left Monday evening. They shipped most of this corn on contracts made last year; and we understand did not get much from the irrigated lands not under contract. In view of the scarcity of feed, and the high prices of dry corn, most of the irrigation farms refused to sell at prices offered, which we understand was around 32 cents per basket.

We understand that the cars shipped went: Chicago, 6; Detroit 2; Pittsburg, 3; Cincinnati, 2; St. Louis, 8; New York City 1; Philadelphia, 1.

Last June we shipped 39 cars of roastingears and several cars melons; put up to date this year we have not shipped any melons in car lots.

The story of a farm, the story of a city and eventually the story of a farm within a city. Even in its most sophisticated dealings with city life, Miss Ferber's story—the most successful American novel of 1924—is redolent of the soil, and alive with the beauty of green fields and the charm of fair landscapes.

The most vivid story of the Middle West during the last quarter of the Nineteenth and the first quarter of the Twentieth century that can be found in American literature.

Homer Rothe's horse fell with him up on the L. F. Rothe ranch Friday afternoon and the young man got such a shaking up that the services of a physician were necessary and he was confined to his bed for several days. Fortunately, he escaped any permanent injury and is out again at this writing.

In the manner of all young brides, Selma started out to make her husband over. He was slow, conservative, morose. She would make him keen, daring, successful, buoyant. Read "So Big," Edna Ferber's astonishing novel, starting in the August issue of Farming.

HILBERT GRUBE DIES IN AUTO ACCIDENT.

The lifeless body of Hilbert Grube, 19, of Maxwell, was taken from beneath an overturned automobile five miles northwest of Lockhart, Sunday afternoon, a few minutes after the wreck occurred.

Mexicans living near-by heard the crash and found the car overturned in a deep ditch alongside a straight road. He was the only occupant of the car and no one knows just what caused the accident. His skull was crushed and death was probably instantaneous.

His body was brought to Lockhart by Roy Smith and prepared for burial at Swearingen Furniture Co. undertaking parlors.

Interment took place in Maxwell cemetery Monday afternoon.

Hilbert Grube was the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Grube, formerly of Reedville, now of Hondo.

He is survived by his parents and a number of sisters and brothers.

ONE OF THE CROWD.

[So Big]—C. C. Holcombe, a well-known farmer living on Route 2 out of Floresville, reports a peculiar and freakish experience with a large chicken snake on his farm. For some time Mr. Holcombe had been missing the nest eggs from his hen nests. So he proceeded to keep a close watch on the shy reptile. Finally he managed to trail the thief and led him to the trunk of a hollow tree. He dug in and located the snake nicely coiled up and comfortably situated surrounded by a wonderful collection of trophies that he had accumulated as a result of his many visits to the hen nests. There were 15 glass nest eggs, 2 door knobs and 5 small gourds in the collection besides a few other little trinkets. The snake was killed and measured about six feet long. Mr. Holcombe stated that he had swallowed the nest eggs and when he would wind himself around a limb or tree in an effort to break them, thinking they were hen eggs, he would soon discover his mistake and would spit them out. For several years, from time to time, he had missed nesteggs and often would find them in a log or hollow stump in the pasture, some distance from their original nest, but he was never able to locate the thief until his recent experience.—Floresville Chronicle.

So Big

Upon her first view of a field of cabbages, Selma DeJong exclaimed, "How beautiful!"

The remark was long a standing joke, one of the few jokes of the stolid Dutch vegetable gardeners among whom she had come to live.

But it was an insight to the character and perception of this unusual woman, the chief figure in Edna Ferber's remarkable book.

The greatest story from the pen of Edna Ferber, a writer who has been voted unanimously, "the female O. Henry."

RESULTS THAT LAST!

Proven by Hondo People.

Thousands of kidney sufferers have tried remedy after remedy with only temporary benefit. That's mighty discouraging! But one kidney remedy has earned a reputation for lasting results and there's plenty of proof right here in Hondo.

Read the experience of one who used Doan's Pills years ago and now makes her endorsement even stronger.

Mrs. Heyo Schweers, Hondo, says: "I had an attack of kidney trouble. My kidneys acted irregularly and caused annoyance and there were other ailments arising from disordered kidneys. I believe the trouble was brought on by a cold which settled in my kidneys. Doan's Pills from Windrow's Drug Store corrected the trouble which has never returned."

FOUR YEARS LATER, Mrs. Schweers said: "I have had no occasion to use Doan's since they cured me.
